Emunah Story by Dov Markowitz

One winter, Rabbi Menachem Mendel from Riminov wanted to travel somewhere but could not afford to pay for transportation. He hired himself out as the wagon driver's assistant, to tend the horses when the driver needed to stop for food and rest.

That night, when they stopped at an inn, Rabbi Menachem Mendel stood outside with the horses, shivering and hungry. He realized that if he did not move around, he would freeze. He began jumping and soon he was doing a dance of joy. "Why don't I use this opportunity to thank Hashem?" he thought, and started singing praises to Hashem.

Someone from the inn walked outside and asked the Rabbi what he was doing. "I'm thanking Hashem," he replied. "Do you know how many people are not able to dance and move around because they are sick? Baruch Hashem, I'm able to be active. There are people who cannot detect when they are hungry because of illness. Baruch Hashem, I am feeling hunger pains."

The man was greatly inspired. He hired some young boys to watch the horses and paid for the Rabbi to sleep at the inn and enjoy a hot meal.

Rabbi Menachem Mendel reached the greatest level of appreciation: the ability to thank Hashem even when he was hungry, tired, and cold. Thanking Hashem in those situations will give a person newfound life. More importantly, it is an extremely high level of avodas Hashem.

Halacha by Eli Waintraub

הלכות קידוש לבנה Part 2

- ▶ A good time to say Kiddush Levana is on שבת מוצאי. Since one is in good spirits and is wearing Shabbos clothing.
 - ▶ But if שבת מוצאי falls out 10 days after the Molad, or if one is concerned that he will not be able to say Kiddush Levana (due to weather conditions) he should not wait until שבת מוצאי
 - ▶ It is a mitzvah to say it with a group of men, but one should not delay because the mitzvah of זריזות במצבות overrides the mitzvah of ברכ עם
 - ▶ Kiddush Levana should not be said unless 3 days have passed from the Molad.
 - ▶ One should not say Kiddush Levana on Friday night or Yom tov night, unless there will be no other chance to say it.
